

Jordan Chapman is currently a junior at Fordham University. A two-year starter in the defensive backfield, he amassed 64 total tackles in 2013, 54 solo, including two for loss. He also tied for the team lead with five interceptions (including one pick-six at Georgetown) and had eleven pass breakups, two forced fumbles and one blocked kick, that coming on a last second Bucknell field goal attempt that would have won the game for the Bison. Chapman was fourth in the Patriot League in passes defended and tied for seventh in interceptions.

The 2013 Fordham Rams qualified for an At-Large Bid to the NCAA FCS National Championship and advanced to the second round after beating Sacred Heart University but ultimately ending their history making season with a loss to Towson University. Chapman was named Honorable Mention College Football Performance Awards (CFPA) defensive back player of the week and earned Second Team All Patriot League honors. Defensively, the Fordham Rams ranked second in the NCAA FCS in turnovers gained (34) and interceptions (19) and finished second ranked scoring defense in the Patriot League.

As a team, the 2013 Rams set the modern day (since 1920) record for wins in a season, including the first win over an NCAA FBS team (Temple), the first win over a top-ten ranked NCAA FCS team on Jack Coffey Field (Villanova) and the school's first ever home NCAA FCS championship win on Jack Coffey Field (Sacred Heart). The Rams broke numerous school records this fall, including most points (526), passing yards (5,052) and total yards (7,214) in a season. All three records are also Patriot League marks as the Rams bettered the Holy Cross scoring record of 511 points in 1987, the Lehigh mark for passing yards in a season of 4,428 set in 2011 and the Colgate total offense record of 6,125 yards set in 2003.
