

Reflections started cleaning our offices in November 2010 introducing themselves to us with an introductory 'spring clean' which was unexpected and gratefully received. On occasion we have VIP visitors for which we have extra little jobs done, I give Reflections a couple of days notice and the jobs are all done above and beyond the normal day to day cleaning. The office cleaning has been passed to them completely and I no longer need to worry about it, if we are running low on anything in the kitchen or bathroom a little note is left for me which is a great help. The guys are friendly, reliable and completely trustworthy and I cannot fault their work, I would not consider using anyone else.
